

return to Babylon ^{is} in the beginning of the era of the Seleucidae which was used by the Syrians and Asiatic Greeks as a reckoning point until the 15th Century. In 306 B.C. he took the title of King. In 302 B.C. he joined the league of PTOLEMY, LYSIMACHUS and Cassander against his former ally ANTIGONUS. & with his cavalry & elephants decided the battle of IPSUS (301 or 300 B.C.) in which Antigonos was defeated & slain. He had the largest share of the Empire. He gave the provinces east of the Euphrates to his son Antiochus who succeeded him. He conducted wars against Demetrius & Lysimachus of Thrace. He was assassinated about 280 B.C.

316 BC
~~335 BC~~

1912 Dates J-BK

Thbes, Boeotia

Was restored by CASSANDER but steadily declined until under the Roman Empire it revived as it was a safer place of residence than the coast cities

316BC

Cassander King of Macedonia